SAILORS' DELIGHT

Red sky at night, the saying goes, sailors' delight; red sky in the morning, sailors take warning. This old weather verse may not have taken into account the amount of smoke that western fires can put into the atmosphere. The red sun filled the sky over East Green Bay Street in Shawano on Tuesday.

Evers extends mask mandate, declares new emergency

Sharp spike in Shawano, Menominee cases over the past week

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Gov. Tony Evers on Tuesday declared a new public health emergency in Wisconsin due to a recent surge in COVID-19 cases among young people and issued a new mask mandate effective immediately.

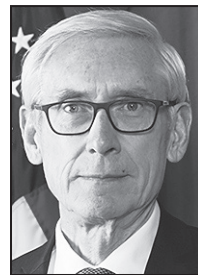

The previous mandate was set to expire Sept. 28. The new order extends that until at least Nov. 21.

In Shawano County, confirmed cases of the coronavirus jumped by 220 over the course of a week, from 410 on Sept. 15 to 630 on Sept. 22, with 100 new cases reported over the course of the weekend.

Menominee County cases rose to 59 on Sept. 22 from 36 on Sept. 15.

Shawano-Menominee Counties Public Health Director Vicki Dantoin could not be reached for a comment by press time.

"We continue to learn more about this virus, but what we know is that we are facing a new and dangerous phase of the COVID-19 pandemic here in Wisconsin," Evers said in a statement.

TONY EVERS

"We are seeing an alarming increase in cases across our state, especially on campus," he said. "We need folks to start taking this seriously, and young people especially — please stay home as much as you are able, skip heading to the bars, and wear a mask whenever you go out. We need your help to stop the spread of this virus, and we all have to do this together."

With the start of the school year, Wisconsin is seeing a surge in cases, especially among young people. In fact, 18- to 24-year-olds have a case rate five times higher than any other age group.

This significant increase has only occurred within the past month and appears to be driven by in-person social gatherings, according to the state.

Last week, eight Wisconsin cities were listed among the top twenty cities in the United States where COVID-19 cases were rising fastest, and six of those eight cities have University of Wisconsin System campuses.

"The current surge among young people is concerning, but it is important to remember that this increase in cases is not confined to college campuses," Department of Health Services Secretary-designee Andrea Palm said.

"Students come to these campuses from across the state, and we worry about the effect their return from an area with a high infection rate could have on their home communities. That is why it is imperative we take action to curb transmission now — to protect residents of Wisconsin in every corner of the state."

According to state figures, Wisconsin is now experiencing unprecedented, near-exponential growth of the COVID-19 pandemic with the daily number of new cases rising from 678 on Aug. 31 to 1,791 on Sept. 21, a 2.6-fold increase in three weeks, driven in part by the unprecedented number of infections among 18-24 year-olds.

Administrative coordinator takes new job

Brent Miller's last day in Shawano County is Oct. 16

By TIM RYAN
Reporter

Shawano County Administrative Coordinator Brent Miller will be leaving the county next month to take a job in Sauk County.

Miller was officially hired Sept. 15 as Sauk County's first county administrator after the Sauk County Board unanimously approved his contract. His last day in Shawano County will be Oct. 16.

Miller, who has been in his post in Shawano County since December 2014, said he has been happy here and had not been looking for a new job.

He was approached by recruiters looking for candidates for the Sauk

BRENT MILLER

County position.

"I was not looking," he said. "They called me twice and asked me to apply. The first time, I just thought, 'no,' and then my wife and I talked about it after the second time. It's near where we someday want to retire because it is close to the kids and the grandkids."

Miller went through the interview process, competing against more than 30 other candidates.

Miller's Sauk County contract calls for an annual salary of $138,000 with benefits and a $1,000 stipend for moving expenses within the first six months of his employment.

He had been making a salary of $105,000 in Shawano County.

The Sauk County administrator position carries more responsibility than his administrative coordinator post in Shawano County. Department heads will be working directly for him, and he will present a county budget to the board as opposed to working with the board to develop a budget.

Shawano County Chairman Tom Kautza said the county was very happy with Miller and his job performance here.

"We would have been very happy if he had stayed," he said, "but you only have grandkids once, and his kids, and you can't blame him for that."

Kautza said the human services department would begin to pursue the process for interviewing and hiring of candidates to replace Miller.

Schools to utilize job center for online learners

Lease agreement to be voted on at district's annual meeting next week

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Shawano School District could be utilizing a portion of the Fellman Center that once housed the Shawano County Job Center for students who need help during virtual learning days.

The idea was presented Monday to the Shawano School Board, but final approval will need to come from district residents themselves at next week's annual meeting — a requirement when the district enters into a lease agreement with another entity for a building not owned by the district.

Superintendent Randi Anderson said the idea came about as a way to help students who are having to learn at home at least part time and did not have the internet infrastructure needed to adequately learn online. Currently, middle school students in Shawano's public schools are in a virtual environment for three days a week, and high school students are virtual for four days.

Robyn Shingler, Shawano Community Education director, said the space at the job center could accommodate up to 25 students at a time with social distancing measures in place. Therefore the district would need to set up shifts at the facility for which the students would sign up, with a limit of two per week per student.

Shingler said the job center's board of directors that manages the building is not seeking rent from the district, but it would require the district to set up its own Wi-Fi and provide its own cleaning services.

"We're trying to think of the best way to help our students who are having trouble with broadband access, and we started thinking of partnerships with the community," said Shingler, who also serves on the center's board and had previously been an employee at the center for 18 years.

She added that the proximity of the Fellman Center, a couple of blocks north of Shawano Community Middle School, makes it convenient for students living in Shawano.

The Fellman Center once housed the social services department for Shawano County, but that department has since moved to a new facility on Anderson Avenue in the Town of Wescott, which has left some vacant space that the district can capitalize on, Shingler said.

She noted that the district has a long-standing relationship with the job center.

"They have provided things like job fairs, free busing to attend those job fairs, staff that has come over to the schools and helped the kids with things like interviewing," Shingler said, citing examples of areas in which the two entities have collaborated.

The space could be available in four to six weeks, according to Shingler, pending the approval of the lease agreement at the annual meeting.

The idea had support from most board members, with the exception of Mart Grams, who questioned why the district didn't use its own facilities and was concerned it would cost too much to lease.

"Two shifts would be 40 kids, so why can't we stick those 40 kids in the school?" Grams said. "For one day, that is such a small number."

Nathan Hanson, assistant principal for Shawano Community High School, pointed out that the current coronavirus numbers prohibit having more students in his school. According to the Shawano-Menominee Counties Health Department, Shawano County had 593 positive cases reported at the time of the board meeting.

"Our first wave will be the e-learners that don't have the access that they need," Hanson said. "If it wasn't for COVID(-19), you could fit a lot more students in there (the job center)."

Summer school in 2020 produces mixed results

Fewer students enrolled as much of the class selections went virtual

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Shawano School District's summer school program was successful in spite of barriers caused by the coronavirus pandemic, coordinator Rod Watson reported to the school board Monday.

"The summer school 2020 experience was a new one for everybody," Watson said. "We ran four different COVID(-19) responses to summer school this year."

The district had planned its traditional curriculum with in-person classes prior to the state closing down all schools in March, Watson said, which required officials to revamp and figure out which classes could be offered virtually.

"We also run a couple of ancillary programs, but because of COVID-19, we kind of had to make it up as we went," Watson said.

2014: 1,023
2015: 1,012
2016: 990

Virtual classes were offered for five weeks, but then the state Department of Public Instruction approved face-to-face programs for two weeks in July once most restrictions on schools had been lifted.

"Then the challenge was who could work and who would work in a COVID-19 environment," Watson said.

Student enrollment numbers were down substantially. The district has had enrollment numbers hovering around the 1,000 benchmark for the last six years, but 2020 saw only 625 students take advantage of summer school programs.

"Our class size was around 18 for the virtual sessions and 15 for the in-person," Watson said. "We had to keep the in-person very small to keep it safe."

Watson noted that, even though there were only 625 students, many of them took multiple classes online — some of them participating in up to six classes for the summer. About half of the enrollment was online students, he said.

With much of the program being online, it resulted in zero behavioral issues reported to Watson and no safety concerns. Also, there were no reported cases of COVID-19 in the summer school classes, he said.

The issues the summer school program did experience included fading engagement. Watson said students were eager to participate in online classes when they first began, but in later weeks, students were not as interested in answering questions and offering insights.

Watson recommended that virtual classes continue to be provided even after the pandemic ends, but to make those classes shorter in order to combat the fatigue.

On the financial side of things, the district found itself in the black at $45,000 in terms of what it had budgeted for summer school. Watson said that the reduction in the number of students allowed the district to drop its teaching staff from 62 to 37, and support staff was bare bones, dropping from 95 employees to 11, only hiring administrative assistants and special education paraprofessionals to help the teachers.

Watson recommended that summer school in 2021 provide an option to fill in learning gaps during the pandemic. With schools closed for three months in the spring and only operating at partial capacity for the current school year, he feared students could fall behind in terms of learning.

"We'll have instructional time lost in a year and a half," Watson said. "We're seeing the potential for an equity gap rising in students who don't have the ability to connect (to online classes) and having less education."

ELECTION 2020

Proposed referendum would keep tax rate flat

Clintonville schools seek $37 million for improvements, consolidation of campuses

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Clintonville School District will ask voters in November to approve a $37 million referendum to upgrade its schools, shuffle them around and potentially save some money in the future.

The district is seeking to build a wing onto Clintonville High School that would house middle school students. The current Clintonville Middle School would become the elementary school and would need extensive renovations to make the classrooms suitable for younger children. That move would allow the district to sell the existing Rexford-Longfellow Elementary School, which is more than a century old and on the National Register of Historic Places.

“We’re setting up the district for our future success,” said David Dyb, district superintendent. “We wanted to say, ‘Let’s look at a northside campus and move away from the elementary school. What would it look like?’ Everyone said, ‘We need to move away from Rexford-Longfellow.’”

Improvements for the middle school building include adding safety features, setting up climate-controlled rooms, turning the current parking lot into some green space and creating new parking and play areas, according to Dyb.

At the high school building, in addition to creating the middle school wing, the district will be able to build a modernized agriculture science space with the amenities in one location. Currently, there is a tiny greenhouse in one corner of the school, ag classrooms in another area and then a science lab elsewhere is used for ag education.

“We want to have an aquaponics area. We want to have a greenhouse. We want to have a hen house,” Dyb said. “We want the whole nine yards.”

The referendum will also provide larger art classrooms at the high school, along with a small addition to the school’s fitness center. The referendum also includes plans to create a secondary egress for the high school north of the building near the football fields to County Road D.

The district’s last attempt to pass a referendum took place in 2017, when the school board sought $25 million

The current Clintonville Middle School would be turned into the elementary school for the Clintonville School District, allowing the district to sell the current Rexford-Longfellow Elementary School and reduce its campuses from three to two.

CLINTONVILLE SCHOOL DISTRICT

for an elementary school, and voters turned it down. However, this referendum comes with a promise not to raise taxes. Clintonville’s school tax rate is $10.74 per $1,000 of equalized valuation, which means the owner of a $100,000 home is paying $1,074 per year to help fund the schools.

Dyb noted that the last of its debt from a referendum that built the existing high school that opened in 2003 will be paid off in 2021, so the future debt payments would be filling the hole left once the high school is paid off, which is a little over $2 of the $10.74 rate.

When the 2017 referendum failed, the board opted to let the dust settle for a bit and then go back to the drawing board to see what community members would approve of that would also improve education, according to Dyb. In December 2018, the district began a series of community meetings, and for the next 18 months, the current referendum began to form, he said.

“What we determined was that we needed to focus on needs versus wants,” Dyb said. “We wanted to be responsible with the community’s money, and we heard very loudly and clearly: No increased taxes.”

Initially, folks at the community meetings latched onto the old idea of building a new elementary school, but when the experts pointed out there was no way to do that without ignoring the people demanding no hike in the taxes, it was decided to utilize the current middle school as an elementary school.

“Everyone would love a new elementary school, but the cost to do that and to keep within the taxing request of the community, we wouldn’t have been able to do the things we needed to do with this building (the middle school) and the high school to keep them on pace for the next 20 years,” Dyb said.

The middle school building was originally built in 1957, so it is in need of modernization, according to Dyb. Even the high school, which is about as old as some of its current students, will need some system improvements to bring it in line with the other renovations, he said.

Currently, middle school students are having to cross over to the high school to learn about specialty trades because the middle school does not have the facilities, which is a safety issue. Also, there is currently unused space at the high school that could accommodate middle school students for core classes like English and math, according to Dyb.

As for Rexford-Longfellow, Dyb said Clintonville is hoping to take a page from the Shawano School District, which sold its Lincoln School property to be turned into apartments. He noted that the apartments kept the historical integrity of the building.

“If we grow, we have room to grow here (in the north part of Clintonville) rather than downtown,” Dyb said.

Dyb said that, since he came aboard as superintendent, he has kept the tax rate on an even keel for four years by making more payments on the existing debt that has saved taxpayers $50,000 to $60,000. He is confident the rate would stay at $10.74 for at least the next two years and within a few cents of the current rate in the years after.

“This is a once-in-a-generation financial opportunity for this school district,” Dyb said.

If the referendum passes, the middle school and high school renovations would be completed by August 2022, according to Dyb. Work on the current middle school to make it an elementary school would be finished by August 2023.

OBITUARIES

Phyllis J. Habeck, 87, of Shawano, passed away Tuesday evening, Sept. 15, 2020, at the Cottages in Shawano.

Phyllis was born Jan. 16, 1933, in La Crosse to Earl and Marjorie (Hill) Hazelwood. She lived in La Crosse and Wausau, graduating from Wausau High School. Phyllis attended college at University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point, which is where she met her husband, Roy Habeck. The couple was married on Aug. 29, 1953.

Shortly after marriage, 20-year-old Phyllis began teaching at Hancock Elementary School. She and Roy moved to Adams in 1957 until 1960, where Phyllis was an elementary school principal. The couple then moved to New Glarus in 1960, where she taught grade school and junior high school classes and special education students until 1968.

Phyllis and Roy moved on to Woodstock, Illinois, where Phyllis volunteered for the local hospital auxiliary and at the high school, spending much time on variable scheduling for students. She also earned her mas-east Wisconsin Technical College in Green Bay for 18 years. She then served as a volunteer board member for the next 17 years, holding various offices on the board. Phyllis founded two scholarships at NWTC as well as endowments to finance education majors at UW-Stevens Point and UW-Madison. She and Roy also sponsored a scholarship fund with Shawano Dollars for Scholars.

Phyllis worked part-time at the Shawano City-County Library, volunteered for the Navarino Nature Center, the Town of Wescott Cemetery Association, and St. James and St. Jakobi Lutheran churches in Shawano. Phyllis also volunteered at ter's degree at Northern Illinois University during that time.

Beginning in 1978, she moved to Shawano Lake, and Phyllis began counseling students at North-the Shawano County Humane Society, where she adopted her dogs, Tip and Lucky. When she retired from her education career, Phyllis became active with the Shawano County Republican Party. She and Roy received the 8th Congressional District Volunteers of the Year Award. Phyllis also served as a poll worker for over a decade.

Phyllis was a talented knitter, winning about a dozen Best of Show purple ribbons at the Shawano County Fair for her afghans. Many of her afghans were customized for wedding couples, and she even knitted a special afghan for a graduate of the U.S. Army Military Academy at West Point, New York. Phyllis also won ribbons at the fair for her photography and flowers.

She was a Green Bay Packers owner and fan and witnessed the Packers defeat the Patriots in Super Bowl XXXI. She also enjoyed following the UW-Stevens Point Pointers, the Wisconsin Badgers and the Milwaukee Brewers. Phyllis's other hobbies were open water fishing, reading and jigsaw puzzles.

Survivors include her husband, Roy, of Shawano; her children, retired Judge James R. (Penny) Habeck, of Shawano, and Jean Habeck, a teacher in Denver, Colorado; her sister, Ann Lydon; and her twin brother, Philip Hazelwood; as well as many nieces, nephews, and friends.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her brothers, Don and Bill; and Roy's siblings, Agnes Smolarek, Milton Habeck, Harold Habeck, Ralph Habeck and Ruben Habeck.

Due to COVID-19 regulations, a celebration of Phyllis' life will be held at a later date.

Mickelson Funeral and Cremation Service of Shawano is assisting the family with arrangements. Please share online condolences at www.mickelsonfs.com.

Emmeretta Miller

Emmeretta Miller, our sister, mother, aunt and friend died unexpectedly due to complications of COVID-19 at 2:20 p.m. on Sept. 12, 2020, at ThedaCare in Appleton. The unrelenting rain on Sept. 12 was symbolic of the tears and devastation felt by all upon news of her passing.

Emmeretta was born Oct. 24, 1956, to the late Leonard E. "Jack" and Glenore T. "Betty" (Boivin) Miller. Emmeretta was a graduate of Bowler High School and the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. Emmeretta's major in college was physical education, which she took to Bowler High school and taught for 20 years.

She was not finished. When she retired from teaching, she went on to work for the Stockbridge-Munsee Tribe in its payroll department, where she managed staff until retirement. Along with her late husband, they owned and operated the convenience store in Neopit, Kenah Mecem. In her youth, she was the proud representative of Polaris snowmobiles. Emmeretta, her late husband, Norbert Miller, their daughter, Dory, and family dog, Presley, lived both on the Stockbridge-Munsee and Menominee Indian Tribe reservations.

Emmeretta was a generous native soul, carrying on the traditions of hospitality, love, generosity and encouragement. To one loving nephew, she was called "Retta." Family enjoyed her cooking lessons (bread, rolls baked in Grandma Leoris's historic bread pans) and heritage recipes created with love. She was an avid QVC shopper; they're going to miss her. She belonged to a food group on Facebook and loved her conversations with them.

One niece best described her important role in our family: "She taught us how to be strong, how to take care of others, how to cook and how to bring the family together." Either by purpose or design, she became our family's matriarch after our mother passed away.

Emmeretta is survived by her daughter, Dory Miller; her siblings, Linda (David) Boundy, of New York, Trilby Beauprey (Glen) McIntosh, of Shawano, John (Cindy) Miller, of Gresham, Terry (Debbie) Miller, of Bowler, and Mary (Wally) Miller, of Bowler. She is further survived by her pet dog, Presley. Nieces, nephews, aunts and uncle also share in her heritage.

Emmeretta was preceded in death by her parents; brother, Luke E. Beauprey III; sister, Jacqueline Miller; grandparents, Jack and Leoris Miller; and Julius and Geraldine Boivin.

Funeral services will be held at a later date.

The family of Emmeretta would like to thank the emergency teams of Stockbridge-Munsee Tribe; the airlift personnel and "Roger" and staff of ThedaCare of Appleton. Your kindness and loving care will never be forgotten.

Karen L. Reeck

Karen L. Reeck, 78, of Pella, passed away peacefully at home surrounded by family on Sept. 17, 2020.

Karen Lee Reeck was born on Sept. 1, 1942, in West Allis to the late Carol and Florence (Mullinix) Eckley. She was married to Carlyle "Sonny" Reeck on Feb. 16, 1993. She worked many jobs, but one of her favorites was taking care of over 250 foster children in Dodge and Shawano counties. She enjoyed gardening, flowers, reading, word puzzles, music, baking, cooking and giving horse drawn wagon rides with her husband. She also enjoyed spending time with family and friends.

She is survived by her children, Kaye (Wendy Mathison)

Kangas, Kent (Megan) Van Buren, Rebecca Van Buren and Matthew (Jess) Van Buren; grandchildren, Jordan and Hailee Saunders; great-grandchildren, Michael and Daniel; nephews, Steve (Shannon) Eckley, Mark Eckley and Colin (Kari) Eckley; and her cat Dutchess.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband, Sonny; brother, Robert Eckley; sister-in-law, Rosemary Eckley; and brother-in-law, Jerry Reeck.

A memorial service will be held 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 26, 2020, at the Eberhardt-Stevenson Funeral Home and Crematory in Clintonville with the Rev. Karen Reimer officiating. Friends may call on Saturday at the funeral home from 1:30 p.m. until the time of service.

The family would like to thank ThedaCare Hospice, the Pines Post Acute Memory Care, Dr. Alexander Starr and Kristen Brockdorf N.P. of ThedaCare Oncology.

The family welcomes donations to Shawano County Humane Society as an expression of sympathy in lieu of flowers.

An online guestbook is available at eberhardtstevenson.com.

Barbara Host Marlier

Barbara Host Marlier, 76, went in quiet peace to her God, her blessed virgin Mary, her many relatives, friends and other saints Monday, Sept. 7, 2020. In her last days, she was surrounded by her husband, her children and grandchildren while at Appleton ThedaCare Regional Medical Center and in hospice care at the same facility.

She was born Barbara Martha Host in Milwaukee on Aug. 15, 1944, to her now-deceased parents, David Host and Patricia Host (nee Bellew).

She is survived by her husband of 48 years, Thomas Robert Marlier, whom she married May 6, 1972. She is also survived by her four children and eight grandchildren, David Host Marlier (Heather Jean, nee Gilbert) with Sebastian and Josephine Marlier; BethAnna Host Davis, nee Marlier (Joey Lee Davis) with AnnaBelle, Maximus and Tannen Davis; Jonathan Host Marlier (Caroline, nee Bruschuk) with London Marlier; and Mollica Host Marlier (Randall Kent Davis) with Miles and Finnigan Davis.

She is further survived by her four sisters, nieces and nephews, Mary Pat Monica Host (Joel Jablonski) with Day and Gabriel Host-Jablonski.

Barbara was a deeply religious, warm, caring and compassionate person. She had a strong devotion to Mary, the mother of Jesus. She was deeply formed in the social teachings of the Roman Catholic Church with regard to the primary teaching of Jesus Christ, which is to care for those less fortunate. She believed in a progressive Catholic Church based on the above with appropriate respect to its teachings and rules. These beliefs were shaped by her parents and the example of Dorothy Day. She and her husband shared these same beliefs.

After graduating from Marquette

University with a degree in theology and beginning studies in psychology, Barbara spent most of her life in social work, taking off due time to provide full-time care of her growing children. Barbara lived one year at Casa Maria Hospitality House in Milwaukee, donating her salary to it while helping the homeless and the poor.

As early as the 1960s, she marched for civil rights. She continued in these beliefs up to the present. Because she believed that all persons are created equal by the one loving God, Barbara could not hold any person inferior or superior by reason of race, color of skin, national origin, sex, culture or creed. Fairness to all and love were her lasting attributes.

She began her career in social work at the Milwaukee County Department of Public Welfare. She then moved to Barron, where her husband was corporation counsel and cubmaster and she served as Girl Scout leader. In 1990, they moved to Shawano. In Shawano, she established a chapter of Emotions Anonymous, a support group to help members cope with their emotions.

In Shawano, she established a chapter of Emotions Anonymous, a support group to help members cope with their emotions.

She worked at Homme Home in Wittenberg helping counsel youths. Later, she also volunteered helping counsel pregnant teens at The Marion House in Green Bay.

After retiring, she remained active caring for her grandchildren and providing communion and visitation to persons at Maple Lane Health Services. When COVID-19 struck, she was deeply saddened that she would not be able to see the many people there with whom she had developed warm friendships.

In lieu of flowers, please make contributions for the Casa Maria Hospitality Center in Milwaukee where she once lived. These may be made through the Swedberg Funeral Home in Shawano.

Visitation will be Saturday, Sept. 26, from 10 a.m. to noon at Sacred Heart Catholic Parish in Shawano. Mass of the resurrection will follow. Per the family's wishes and the policy of Sacred Heart Parish, masks must be worn.

Robert Thimke

Robert Charles Thimke, 97, of Shawano, passed away at 12:12 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 31, 2020, surrounded by his family and his companion, Shorts the cat. Bob was born Sept. 26, 1922, to the late William F. and Emma (Engel) Thimke in Shawano.

Bob grew up with his brother, Harry, and his sister, Ruth, during the Depression, residing on Lafayette Street and having lots of adventures with his gregarious neighborhood friends. When World War II broke out, he helped form the Civil Air Patrol in Clintonville, flew a plane and collected numerous stories to regale in his later years.

Bob spent his entire life in Shawano running the family jewelry store with his wife and partner, Mary. He raised three children (Bill, Mark and Claire), all of whom survive him. He remained active throughout his adult life with his community and Peace Church. Bob loved to travel, and his stories of the places he had been and the people he had met were a joy and comfort to him. He always valued friendship and had friends of all ages throughout his life.

Though our father lived to be 97 years, we his children are already missing him. We hope everyone who knew or came in contact with Bob will have the same feelings of joy at his long and fruitful life and sadness at his passing.

A funeral service for Bob will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 26, 2020, at Peace United Church of Christ, with the Rev. Lew Worthington officiating. Burial will be held in Woodlawn Cemetery. Visitation will be held on Saturday at the church from 12:30 p.m. until the time of service. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that memorials be made to the Shawano County Humane Society or the local charity of their choice.

Bob's family would like to extend a special thank you to his neighbors, caregivers Terri, Brenda and Paula and to Jenny's Assisted Living.

Center in Clintonville.

The Eberhardt-Stevenson Funeral Home and Crematory, of Clintonville, is assisting her family.

Michael L. Sutherland

Michael Leo Sutherland, 83, of Hudson, Florida, formerly of Bonduel, passed away on Sept. 8, 2020, at a VA hospital in Tampa, Florida. He was born May 12, 1937, in Detroit, Michigan, to Leo H. and Marie E. Sutherland.

Michael enlisted in the United States Navy from 1956 through 1967, serving as an aviation structural mechanic during Vietnam attached to a heavy attack squadron. After the service, Mike was the owner/operator of several service stations before farming in Michigan. Mike became a member of the Bonduel farming community in 1976. Mike was a member of the Bonduel area VFW.

Surviving Mike are his wife, Nancy K. Sutherland, of Hudson, Florida; brothers, Colin Sutherland and Joseph of Appleton, Chris (Sonya) Sutherland, of Gillett, Terry (Pat) Cotharin, of New Port Richy, Florida, Michael K. (Connie) Sutherland, of Bonduel, Susan (Bob) VanSciver, of Appleton, and Mary (Scott) Mellberg, of Appleton; 17 grandchildren; and 13 great-grandchildren.

Mike was preceded in death by his parents and two brothers, Peter Sutherland and Donald Sutherland.

Private funeral services will be held at a later date.

MARRIAGES

Alan Mark Danielson and Cathleen Theresa Marcks, both of Bonduel, Sept. 19, 2020.

Jacob Andrew Drakenberg and Margaret Mary Zarter, both of Shawano, Sept. 19, 2020.

Miles of Art smaller but still going strong

Three sites stay open to entice art lovers in October

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Shawano County's Miles of Art festival might have fewer miles this year, but there will still be plenty of art to peruse the first weekend in October.

Miles of Art has been reduced to three sites — two in Shawano and one in Gresham — but the other sites that have opted out plan to be back in action next year, with the hope that the coronavirus pandemic will have passed.

"It is a scaled-back version of our usual Miles of Art," said Megan Dorsch, one of the coordinators for this year's festival. "We let the artists that host the studios decide whether they wanted to participate or not."

David Aschenbrener, who operates a bronzing studio at W10181 Cherry Road near Gresham, is one of those artists who elected to stay open and welcome visitors from Shawano County and beyond.

He will be hosting three other artists — one of them being his son, Alex.

Another stop for visitors is the Wally G Beads Studio, N5656 Oak Rod in the Town of Wescott. Mary Redman and Walter Gross will host, and four other artists will be joining them for some fun.

Off the Wall, a Shawano art gallery owned by Tamara Magee at 124 S. Main St., will also serve as a stop on the Miles of Art tour, which will also allow those touring to stop and enjoy the downtown's annual Oktoberfest.

On a typical year, Miles of Art has extended all the way to the WOWSPACE in Wittenberg, stretched up into the heart of the Menominee Reservation and included as many as eight or nine host sites in a given year. However, Dorsch said, many of the sites felt it was best to take a break for 2020 and come back stronger in the next year.

Of course, those visiting the sites will also get the chance to see more

FYI

Although the WOWSPACE is not participating in the Miles of Art tour this year, the gallery is open with a new exhibit, "Kaleidoscope of Color." The exhibit will be open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Oct. 4. The gallery is located at 114 Vinal St. in Wittenberg. For information, go to www.wallsofwittenberg.com/community-events.

than 360 barn quilts around Shawano County and dozens of community quilts in and around Gresham, along with the natural fall colors.

Miles of Art will take place Oct. 3-4, with hours being 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

Because the pandemic is still in full swing, Dorsch is urging those who go to the sites to wear masks and maintain social distancing.

She noted that Miles of Art foot traffic is usually a steady flow and not one where crowds peak at certain times.

"Let's say you have a purchasing situation and you're checking out in a garage area, we want people to try and stay six feet apart," Dorsch said.

"Sometimes, that may mean somebody's standing outside and not under a roof. We just ask for social distancing."

Aside from pandemic protocols prompting fewer sites, Dorsch said that the festival will still remain the same, and anyone who is eager to see what new creations local artists have put together should come out to see what's there.

"It's a cool opportunity to see some local artists in their own environment, ask some questions and do some early holiday shopping and all that good stuff," Dorsch said.

She added that there is already interest in making Miles of Art bigger and better than ever in 2021.

"We've had interest from new artists and had new sites that we wanted to open up, but this wasn't the year to do it," Dorsch said. "We're hoping to add some new things next year."

Information on Miles of Art can be found at www.smartwisconsin.com, and Dorsch said information

"Mountain Sunset" by Alex Aschenbrener will be one of the pieces the artist will have on display at his father's bronzing studio in Gresham for Miles of Art.

COVID-19 closes courthouse until Oct. 5

County Board meeting also canceled

By TIM RYAN
Reporter

The Shawano County Courthouse has been closed until Oct. 5 due to an outbreak of COVID-19, but essential offices will keep operating, according to county officials.

This week's Shawano County Board meeting, which was slated to take place at the County Park Pavilion and include a vote on a proposal to make the county a Second Amendment sanctuary, has also been canceled.

The decision to close the courthouse effective Monday was made late Friday, according to County Clerk Pam Schmidt.

County Administrative Coordinator Brent Miller said the county clerk and register of deeds will have someone available in those offices for people who call.

"For the court system, they'll have to contact the clerk of court's office, because the courts still have to do stuff," he said.

Clerk of Court Ethan Schmidt said some of cases on the court docket are being rescheduled.

"What's going on right now is Branch 2 courtroom is closed for the next two weeks and things will be rescheduled," he said. "Branch 1 is going to try to handle some hearings by Zoom. Others are being rescheduled today."

Schmidt said that any court hearings that do go forward will use the court system's YouTube channel as its public access point at wicourts.gov, which has a link to YouTube proceedings.

In the meantime, people who had been summoned to appear in court will find themselves locked out of the courthouse. The county has posted notices on the doors of the courthouse and a list of contact numbers for county departments.

"What I've been doing is rescheduling with the skeleton crew that I have here," Schmidt said. "We're hoping to get out feet underneath us a little better going forward so people don't make the wasted trip in to find out that their court case has been rescheduled."

County officials are not revealing the number of county offices affected or number of employees that have tested positive for the coronavirus, citing Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) privacy rules.

County Board Chairman Tom Kautza said in an interview last week, prior to the complete shutdown of the courthouse, that only two offices had been affected at that time.

He also said the exposure to COVID-19 didn't necessarily occur at the courthouse.

"It may have been from some other event or other," Kautza said. "That's up to the health department to find out with their contact tracing."

Public Health Director Vicki Dantoin said the courthouse situation is not unusual.

"It's kind of the same as what's been going on around the county, and the numbers are significantly higher than they had been previously," she said. "It's bound to occur in some businesses."

Dantoin added it's not always the workplace where the virus is contracted.

"What people do in their personal lives is their business, and there can be exposure that way," she said. "It's not always exposure at the workplace, but they do occur, and there have been plenty of business in the county that have had COVID as well."

Tigerton School District switches to virtual learning due to COVID-19 outbreak

Multiple positive cases of COVID-19 have been documented in the Tigerton Middle/High School, leading the district to move to a virtual learning setting as of Sept. 22.

Kelley Strike, Tigerton's district administrator, said in a letter to parents and families that the district consulted with the Shawano County Health Department before making the decision to go virtual. At this time, Strike said the district hopes to return by Oct. 8 to in-person school four days per week, which was the model developed for this school term, but the actual date will be determined by health department guidelines. The announcement letter was sent home from school Sept. 21 with all students, distributed via email and posted on the district's Facebook page.

The Wisconsin Department of Health Services and the Center for Disease Control recommend testing for anyone who has been in close contact with someone with COVID-19, regardless of whether they have symptoms.

Strike asked families to monitor for symptoms and to seek medical advice if symptoms develop.

Strike also urged parents and families to get tested by their health care provider, a local clinic or a community testing site. Strike noted it's important to call ahead to schedule the test and to bring a copy of the letter with them.

Community testing sites can be found at <https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/covid-19/communitytesting.htm>.

Lastly, Strike encouraged families to contact the school nurse Amy Strehlow at 715-535-4027 or astrehlow@tigerton.k12.wi.us with information about student illnesses.

Menominee government initiates another shutdown

The Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin incident command issued a new order Wednesday affecting the operations of tribal government and the community due to the recent spike in COVID-19 cases.

This order is more comprehensive than previous shutdowns and is effective at 10 p.m. Sept. 16, according to an announcement on the tribe's website from Jonathan Wilber, tribal administrator.

The order:

- Transitions schools to virtual learning only
- Closes the daycare, Head Start
- Converts restaurants to carry out service only
- Closes bars and the casino
- Restricts places of worship to livestream services only
- Places Menominee Tribal Enterprises on telework status
- Reinstates a curfew from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. daily

For tribal employees, the order requires that all Menominee tribal government buildings are closed to staff and for in-person services to the public except the Menominee Tribal Clinic, food distribution, Middle Village Public Safety/Food Preparation Center, tribal detention facility, elections office, community based residential facility, domestic violence shelter, Eagles Nest emergency shelter, and essential areas of the tribal courts as determined by the chief justice.

Access to government services that are not essential for life and safety will be greatly restricted during the duration of this order.

The purpose of this closure is to promote social distancing, limit community spread of COVID-19, and purposely restrict the travel of community members to stop the spread. Tribal members are asked to stay home, not visit others, and travel only for essential life safety matters.

Whenever, wherever, however

Virtual Bike the Barn Quilt goes national

The annual Bike the Barn Quilts event is drawing to a close, but there is still one weekend left to bicycle, hike or jog toward a fundraising goal.

Due to the COVID-19 outbreak, and social distancing recommendations, the eighth annual Bike the Barn Quilts — presented by ThedaCare — bicycle ride went remote. This allowed supporters of Shawano Pathways and Friends of the Mountain Bay Trail to choose the exercise they enjoyed most and complete their goals over time.

The choose-your-own location and transportation event runs through Sept. 30.

Participants are asked to bike or hike 10 kilometers or 40 miles and send their results to the event organizers. Organizers billed the event style as “Whenever, wherever, however.”

Participants download a distance tracker and post progress toward fundraising goal in photos and videos on social media using hashtag #BTBQS and tagging Shawano Pathways in social media posts.

Event information is available at the Shawano Pathways website, <https://www.shawanopathways.org>.

Online registration is available from that website through Eventbrite. The cost starts $20 for one person; different levels include multiple-person memberships and the opportunity to join Friends of the Mountain Bay Trail.

Participants who share a picture of themselves in action on social media during this event using #BTBQS by September 30, are entered into a drawing for high-visibility clothing by See Me Wear.

Shawano Pathways is the primary fundraiser and promoter for creating a network of public trails and greenways in Shawano County.

This annual event has helped support Shawano Pathways’ projects, and new for 2020, a portion of the proceeds will help support the new Shawano County chapter of the Friends of the Mountain Bay Trail.

Funds go toward:

- Promoting the importance of greenways and trails to the quality of life within the community.
- Planning the development, implementation, and improvement of a greenway and trails network within Shawano County and adjacent areas for recreation and alternative transportation.
- Sponsoring and provide various opportunities for healthy outdoor activities for all ages.

When should a picture be avoided in medical care?

Many patients ask their doctors to use magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) to diagnose their chronic low back pain. They want to use the most up-to-date technology to determine the cause of their pain and to make sure it is nothing serious, but is MRI helpful? Does it provide benefit or simply expose the patient to risks?

Research studies confirm that MRIs are not necessary for most patients with low back pain and have generally been overused. Recently, an international medical team conducted a scientific review of research investigating MRIs and low back degeneration. Based on their assessment, the team concluded there is insufficient evidence to support the routine use of MRI in patients with chronic low back pain.

A concern for all low back pain patients should be false-positive findings. These are findings of clinically irrelevant abnormalities on the MRI that lead to unnecessary treatment. A recent study funded by the National Institute on Aging and National Institutes of Health examined the relationship between adults with and without chronic low back pain and degenerative disc and osteoarthritic disease.

This study was conducted by researchers from the University of Delaware and University of Pittsburgh, and over 300 adults participated. This high quality study confirmed that degenerative disc and osteoarthritic disease is widespread in older adults, regardless of clinical status, with greater than 90% of patients demonstrating some level of degeneration. This study also demonstrated that the severity of disc and joint disease shown on MRI is not associated with pain severity in patients with chronic low back pain.

This study is supported by previous findings showing that disc degeneration is frequent among subjects without symptoms and is not clinically relevant. Degen-eration of spinal discs is a progressive and normal age-related circumstance in adults, and it has only a weak relationship to pain and disability. Degeneration and herniation are biological realities, but pain and disability do not necessarily occur. Many imaging findings that traditionally were presumed to be pathologic are common in asymptomatic populations.

Researchers have also found that MRI abnormalities are not major predictors of outcomes in patients with low back pain. In fact, the joint guidelines of the American College of Physicians and the American Pain Society explicitly recommend not using routine imaging in patients with non-specific low back pain. Research also suggests that patients with whiplash injuries, spinal stenosis and meniscal tears might also want to avoid the routine use of MRIs.

Avoid MRIs unless there is a compelling reason for their use. Talk openly with your doctor about your specific condition and possible alternative diagnostic methods. A complete medical history and physical examination can identify dangerous conditions associated with back pain, and blood tests are usually more accurate at locating signs of serious medical issues.

SENIOR LIVING

Letter links WWII, Shawano, England

A letter written by Shawano resident and WWII veteran Alden Wiegert was found in an English pub.

By CAROL RYCZEK

Editor-in-chief

Recently, one short email to the Shawano Leader brought a pub in England, the Titanic, D-Day, deer hunting and a 1928 Shawano High School graduate together.

The connection took the form of a five-page thank-you letter from a Shawano soldier to a pub owner in Wotton-under-Edge, Gloucester, England.

Denis Cook, whose friend owns the pub, said the letter was found at a pub called the Star Inn.

"During the second World War, some American soldiers were stationed in the UK," Cook wrote. "They became friends, and drinking buddies, at a pub called the Star Inn in Wotton-under-Edge, Gloucester, and when they were moved on to Germany (and other countries) they wrote letters to the owner of the pub... these letters were found in the pub by my friend when he took over the pub over many years later," Cook said in the email.

"Of the five soldiers, only one gave details of where he came from in the USA," Cook said.

This soldier was Corporal Alden F. Wiegert, and in 1945 he lived at 817 E. Green Bay St., Shawano.

"It would be great to know if Alden is still alive so that we can reunite him (or his family) with his letters," Cook wrote, attaching a copy of Wiegert's last letter.

Wiegert was born on June 29, 1909, and died on June 21, 1993, at 83 years old. He was a 1928 graduate of Shawano High School. His obituary does not list a spouse or children, but it does list siblings who lived in the Shawano area.

The Star Inn, where he and his friends spent time prior to being deployed to France, dates back to 1572. According to the current owners, in 1784, John Cambridge — the son of Francis Cambridge, landlord of the Star Inn — was born.

As a young man, John emigrated to Canada where he set up a timber business in Prince Edward Island for the shipbuilding industry. John called his business "White Star," named after his father's pub. The business grew, and John reinvested the profits to found a shipping company, which he called "White Star Line."

Eventually John's business was taken over, but the new owners retained the name, and later grew into the famous company that went on to commission the building of the Titanic. Titanic memorabilia is still found at the pub.

Wiegert was part of the 45th

Evacuation Hospital unit. He and hundreds of others were stationed in Gloucester until their deployment to Germany or France.

The "45th Evac" operated a 400-bed, semi-mobile hospital, according to the WW2 US Medical Research Center, a website dedicated to collecting and preserving the history of medical personnel in World War II.

While his specific duties and schedule are not known, his unit landed at Omaha Beach at 1500 hours on June 16 1944. "After transferring to smaller landing craft, the personnel were dropped a quarter of a mile offshore. Loaded down with personal gear and equipment, officers and enlisted men made their way to shore," the website reported.

The hospital provided "as near to the front as practicable the necessary facilities for definitive treatment for all casualties. Patients were retained in an evacuation hospital for a few hours to a few weeks depending on the rate of admission, necessity for movement, number of available bed capacity and the tactical situation in the field," the historical account explains.

Wiegert returned through Gloucester after the war, but as his letter shows, was not able to visit the pub on his way home. The fate of his four companions is not known.

Upon returning home, his concerns seem to center on another activity with friends, the annual deer hunt in northern Wisconsin.

He expressed that interest in the thank you letter he wrote to his friends at the Star Inn.

The letter reads:

Shawano, Wis.

Dec. 14, 1945

Dear Friends,

Received your letter a few days after I arrived home. We left Germany the 23rd of September to start the trip back, but were delayed in France for about six weeks waiting for boats.

We finally boarded the boat the 10th of November and sailed to South Hampden the 11th where we re-fueled and anchored overnight out in the Harbor, leaving the 12th for the States.

So you see I had one more last look at England before coming back here. We all wished that they would let us off the boat for a few days to visit Wotton, but of course it was impossible.

Our ship docked at Boston an we were all sent to different camps, the nearest one to our homes.

I wanted to get my discharge in New York and stop there to visit John and my bother who is stationed at Mitchel field in New York, but couldn't arrange it.

Don't suppose I will see John now, perhaps never. Haven't heard from him since last July so don't know where he is or what he is doing. I got home just as the deer hunting season closed for the year.

A photo of the Star Inn as it may have appeared during WWII.

Had I gotten out a week earlier, I would have been able to hunt, as some friends who have a hunting cabin in the north woods had everything ready for me to join them as soon as I arrived. They got back from their trip the same day I arrived home. There were six men in the group and each came back with a buck deer, so you see I really missed a good trip.

I took some pictures of the deer and will send you a print later when I have some made. I spent a day on one of the northern lakes fishing through the ice but didn't have any luck.

Had a letter from George Windell, the only one I've heard from since we were discharged.

So far I'm not working and perhaps won't until after the holidays. Have been out to the mink range a couple of times. Don't know what I will do yet.

I want too thank you again, Mr. and Mrs. Dodd, for all the things you did for me to make my stay in England a happy and pleasant one. They were, by far, the best days I spent while in the army.

Also wish Audrey all the success and happiness in the world, on her forthcoming marriage, and to thank Brian for the many things he brought and "scrounged" for us. Hope he likes the army better than I did.

Thanks for the fishing articles and will close, wishing you all a Merry Xmas and Happy New Year, and to the firemen and Richings and Mrs. White and Vera. Will drink a toast to you all on Christmas Day.

Sincerely, Alden

Utility disconnection moratorium extended to Nov. 1

The Public Service Commission of Wisconsin has voted to extend the moratorium on utility residential customer disconnections and refusal of service for nonpayment until Nov. 1.

Prior to the extension, regulated utilities were not allowed to disconnect service for non-payment until Oct. 1. The move comes as COVID-19 positive cases continue to spike in the state.

Commissioners strongly urge customers to contact their utility to set up payment plans or to seek energy assistance now, instead of waiting until the end of the moratorium.

If customers are having difficulty paying their energy bills, they may be eligible for assistance from the Wisconsin Home Energy Assistance Program.

To apply online, go to energybenefit.wi.gov.

To find out where to apply in person or by phone, go to <http://homeenergyplus.wi.gov/> or call 1-866-HEATWIS.

If customers cannot reach an agreement with their utility, they are urged to contact the PSC by calling 1-800-225-7729, or by filing a complaint on the PSC website.

The PSC's actions come as Wisconsin is approaching its annual moratorium on cold weather disconnections for utility service used for home heating.

The moratorium is set to begin Nov. 1, and runs to April 15, 2021.

Water, electric and gas utilities seeking to request the ability to disconnect during the winter moratorium will have to file a disconnection plan with the PSC and receive approval before they can proceed with disconnections.

"If you have been unable to pay your utility bills, contact your utility to arrange a payment plan or seek public assistance now and while funding is available," said Rebecca Cameron Valcq, chairperson of the PSC. "Even paying a little bit at a time or applying for energy assistance today can help head off an insurmountable debt at the end of the moratorium."

Packers not satisfied on offense yet

Red zone struggles, drops are issues after 2 games

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Another week, another strong showing for the Green Bay Packers offense.

For a unit that didn't make many upgrades over the offseason, they sure have been impressive during the first two weeks of the regular season.

In fact, through two weeks, the offense has accumulated the most total yards (1,010) in the NFL. Green Bay ranks sixth in passing yards (593) and first in rushing yards (417). The Packers have scored 85 points, 12 more than the next best team.

Maybe it's a product of playing Minnesota Vikings and Detroit Lions defenses that aren't that great, but the Packers offense has also left a ton of yards and points on the field already.

Even having scored 85 points, the team has scored touchdowns on just six of its 11 trips into the red zone. The 54.5% touchdown rate ranks in the bottom third of the league.

"There's so much to improve upon. Most notably, I'm upset with myself for a couple of those red zone calls," said coach Matt LaFleur after the Packers dismantling of the Lions.

Dropped passes have also been an issue on offense. Multiple websites have the Packers down for five drops through two games, although there are probably a few other catchable passes that were also not hauled in.

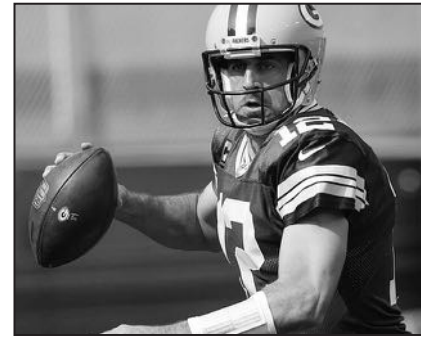

LaFleur and quarterback Aaron Rodgers both noted that drops were an issue that needs to get resolved, but neither seemed overly concerned.

Next up for the Packers is a Sunday night showdown with the New Orleans Saints, a team coming off a road loss to the Las Vegas Raiders.

The Saints defense ranks in the top half of the league in terms of total yards allowed (342.5), passing yards (241.5) and rushing yards (101) per game. But after surrendering 23 points in week one and 34 more in week two, the chance for the Packers offense to continue racking up the points is there.

The biggest key to the contest might be turnovers, as the Packers have yet to throw an interception or lose a fumble. The Saints have just one giveaway and have created four takeaways on defense.

The biggest challenge opposing defenses are faced with when taking on the Packers offense is determining whether to stop receiver Davante Adams or running back Aaron Jones.

Adams racked up 14 receptions for 156 yards and two touchdown catches in the week one win, while Jones had 76 total yards of offense and one score.

The Lions tried to take away Adams, and they did a solid job before the wideout left with an injury, holding him to three catches for 36 yards. But while focusing on Adams, Jones accumulated 168 rushing yards, 68 receiving yards and three total touchdowns.

Even if opposing defenses find a way to slow both Adams and Jones on gameday, Rodgers is confident the team still has the pieces to move the ball and put up points.

With regard to opposing defenses deciding which aspect of the Packers offense to slow down, "I think it's going to be week to week, but we have obviously more than just Davante and Aaron Jones," said Rodgers after Sunday's win. "Other guys have made a lot of important contributions for our team, like Mercedes Lewis, who is so important for us and just so many things the point of attack, and then Bobby (Robert) Tonyan with his route-running ability — he had a couple really nice plays today.

"And then obviously Allen (Lazard) and Marquez (Valdes-Scantling), their development has been great. We dropped obviously a few too many balls today, but big times in the game, (we got) big plays from both Allen and Marquez."

The Pack will look to keep fine tuning the offense while also trying to snag a key road win over a team they could be battling for playoff position with near the end of the season.

Lifeless Lambeau a shocking experience

Over the course of the past couple years, I've had the opportunity to watch, cover and shoot photos of some highly entertaining Green Bay Packers regular season games at Lambeau Field. The most recent time I stepped inside the historic venue during the 2019-20 season was for the team's playoff battle with the Seattle Seahawks.

I also was in attendance for Sunday's home-opening win over the Detroit Lions, and as you might expect, it was an extremely different experience.

I started noticing the changes just a few minutes into my drive toward Green Bay. I left about half an hour later than I had for past regular season games, and I dealt with very little traffic on Highway 29. Instead of having to come to a complete stop about a half mile from the stadium due to other fans, I had little trouble driving around the stadium and into the designated media parking lot.

Instead of opening the door to my vehicle and hearing loud music and people conversing in every direction, it was like someone had hit the mute button on the TV remote. The usually packed parking lots were like a wasteland, and I couldn't find a crowd of people tailgating anywhere. The smells of grills, beer and other pregame dishes that always made my mouth water were absent.

My typical walk into the stadium is done navigating around cars and groups of people, but Sunday, I was able to take a straight line to the media will call window — masked, of course.

Like the rest of the media members that attended the game, I then walked over to the health screening tent, where I had to answer several questions before getting my temperature taken. After getting the green light, I proceeded into the stadium.

I think I could count the number of people I encountered with both hands as I worked my way to the press box. Usually, I pass hundreds of people, including Packers game day staff, cheerleaders, media members and even some current and past players.

By the time I sit down in the press box, the stadium bowl is usually well over half full. To not see a single fan in the stands as the teams warmed up on the field was absolutely mindboggling.

There was chatter from other media members, something I honestly can't remember in the past, because typically the PA system and buzz of the crowd drowns everything else out. Kickoff sneaked up on me, probably because I was so used to seeing the stadium bowl fill up.

I watched several NFL games in the first week of the season and a number of other sports that used pumped-in crowd noise with no fans in attendance, so I didn't expect to be that shocked when the game started. Boy, was I wrong!

I haven't had the chance to watch many highlights or any parts of the game back, but I didn't notice any crowd noise during the game. With the media members focused on the game, chatting was sparse. It was an eerie quietness, and something that I won't ever forget.

Of course, the Packers offense turned in another big day, but to not have adoring fans going crazy after every big play, it almost felt like it shouldn't have counted.

Of course, the win still counts just as much as any other the team's accumulated over its long history. It's still football, but it's just not the same experience as in the past. I have a feeling players will have a much greater appreciation for the fans moving forward, if they don't already.

Here's to hoping fans can attend games later this season or, at the latest, to start the 2021 season.

Packers double up Lions to move to 2-0

Jones stars in another strong showing for Packers offense

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Green Bay Packers overcame a sluggish start before pulling away for a dominant 42-21 win over the Detroit Lions on Sunday at a crowdless Lambeau Field in Green Bay.

Running back Aaron Jones was the star for the Packers offense, rushing for 168 yards and two touchdowns and hauling in a team-leading four passes for an additional 68 yards and another score. The 236 total yards of offense is the second-highest mark in Packers history for a single game.

“For us, it all starts up front (blocking). Those guys did a great job of coming out and just getting after it and opening up lanes,” said Jones of his big day.

Detroit put together an eight-play, 75-yard touchdown drive to start the game before Green Bay countered with a field goal on its first drive. The Lions answered with another 75-yard drive to go up two scores early.

In what Jones called a critical point of the game, the Packers put together a 75-yard touchdown drive of their own, capped by a 7-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Aaron Rodgers to Jones.

The teams traded punts over the next three drives, but Green Bay did a better job of moving the ball, so the hosts were set up with good field position with a minute to go in the half.

It took the Packers just four plays to go 62 yards and get in the end zone to take the lead. Tight end Robert Tonyan — who had a costly drop on the first possession of the game — hauled in an 11-yard touchdown pass from Rodgers.

Detroit moved the ball in the waning seconds of the first half, but a 57-yard field goal attempt by kicker Matt Prater was wide right.

Green Bay’s offense picked up right where it left off to open the second half, as Jones broke free for a 75-yard touchdown run on the first offensive play.

“He’s such a talented guy. He does so many things for our offense,” said Rodgers of Jones.

After Green Bay’s defense forced a quick three-and-out, the offense moved the ball into Detroit territory before having to punt. The punt from JK Scott went into the end zone, but a Lions penalty forced the visitors to start from their own 5-yard line.

The penalty proved costly, as on the first down play, Packers pass rusher Rashan Gary applied pressure on Detroit quarterback Matthew Stafford, resulting in a hurried throw, which Packers cornerback Chandon Sullivan jumped in front of. After making the interception, Sullivan was able to tumble into the end zone for a pick six to put the Pack up 17, 31-14.

Green Bay’s defense forced another punt on the next possession, and the offense capitalized by putting three more points on the board after a 35-yard field goal from Mason Crosby.

Detroit scored a touchdown on its next possession, but again, the Packers had an answer to put the game away.

The big play on the scoring drive was a 41-yard pass on third down from Rodgers to receiver Marquez Valdes-Scantling, with Jones picking up a blitz to allow Rodgers to get the ball off. Jones was rewarded later in the drive, scoring on a 14-yard run to cap the scoring.

“Well, it certainly wasn’t the start that we wanted to the game, but I thought our guys kind of hung together and didn’t blink,” said Matt LaFleur, who improved to 8-0 against the NFC North since taking over as Green Bay’s coach. “Nobody pointed the finger and they looked inward and were able to come out and execute. It was a good team win.”

For the game, Green Bay out-gained Detroit 488-307. The Packers averaged 7.4 yards per rush attempt, tallying 259 rushing yards for the day.

Along with the two touchdown passes, Rodgers finished with 240 passing yards, although the number could have been much higher had it not been for several drops.

Jamaal Williams quietly put up 63 rushing yards on just eight attempts. Valdes-Scantling, Allen Lazard and Davante Adams all finished with three receptions.

Adams was one of several Packer players that had to leave the game with an injury.

Free agent linebacker acquisition Christian Kirksey led the Packers defense with 12 total tackles. Gary finished with 1.5 sacks, while Za'Darius Smith and rookie Vernon Scott added a sack each. Gary shared one sack with Preston Smith.

PACKERS NOTEBOOK

By BILL HUBER
Correspondent

Built differently

The Green Bay Packers are built for today and tomorrow. The New Orleans Saints are built for the here and now.

With time running out on 41-year-old quarterback Drew Brees and his quest to win a second Super Bowl championship, the Saints have assembled a win-now roster. That's evident in several areas of roster construction.

Based on the NFL's analysis of week one rosters, the Saints have a league-high 14 players who are 30 or older and have the oldest roster in the league at 27.00 years old.

They signed 33-year-old receiver Emmanuel Sanders and 32-year-old safety Malcolm Jenkins in free agency to bolster an already-old roster.

It's all in hopes of adding another championship to a dynasty that never quite got off the ground. The last three seasons, they've gone 35-13. However, those seasons ended in playoff heartache with the "Minneapolis Miracle" loss to the Vikings in 2017, the controversial loss in the NFC Championship Game to the Rams in 2018 and an overtime loss at home to the Vikings in 2019.

Could this be the end of the line? The Saints have been kicking the salary-cap can down the road for years. Now, potential disaster awaits. With no fans in the stands due to COVID-19, the salary cap is expected to fall from $198 million this season to $176 million in 2021. That's left New Orleans $79.1 million over next year's cap, according to OverTheCap.com. That's not a misplaced decimal point.

Meanwhile, the Packers have the sixth-youngest roster in the league, with the average member of the team being 25.51 years old. That's Green Bay's typical way of doing business.

Ted Thompson took over as general manager in 2005 and was replaced by Brian Gutekunst in 2018. In those 16 seasons, the Packers have fielded one of the 10 youngest rosters every season in all but 2017, when they were 11th.

Green Bay has its own cap problems due to COVID. It's only $5.1 million under the projected cap, with left tackle David Bakhtiari, running back Aaron Jones, cornerback Kevin King and center Corey Linsley among those who will be free agents after the season.

Rodgers vs. Brees

This is a quarterbacking clash of the titans. Green Bay's Aaron Rodgers is the NFL's all-time leader in passer rating. New Orleans' Brees is the all-time leader in passing yards and passing touchdowns.

Rodgers is off to a sensational start with six touchdowns vs. zero interceptions. He's No. 4 on the MVP board at PointsBet sportsbook.

"He's doing it again. It's hard to root against him," said Andrew Mannino, PointsBet's senior sports content analyst. "If the Packers make a real run, he's going to be instrumental in that. I think bettors are seeing that the NFC isn't exactly lopsided the way that some of the AFC is, so if they get on a run, he's going to be a big part of that. I think the odds reflect that."

Brees is off to a slow start by his lofty standards. Coming off an NFL-record completion percentage in 2018 and just missing the mark in 2019, he ranks only 21st with a 64.7 percent completion rate to start this season.

"My job is to execute the offense," Brees said after Monday's loss at Las Vegas. "I've always evaluated myself on being a good decision-maker. And so, at the end of the day, I'm going to throw the ball to the open guy, move the ball down the field, score points, help us win football games. That's my job."

"My job is not to have the most air yards, or throw the ball down the field the most, or anything like that. My job is to help us win. My job is to help put everybody around me in a position to succeed and that's all I'm focused on."

Money backs

Two of the best running backs in the NFL, New Orleans' Alvin Kamara and Green Bay's Jones, will be on the field on Sunday night. While Kamara is being paid like the elite back that he is, Jones is waiting his turn.

On Sept. 12, the Saints signed Kamara to a five-year extension worth $75 million that extends through the 2025 season.

Kamara was a third-round pick in 2017. Jones was a fifth-round pick and 19th running back selected in that draft. In their three-plus seasons, Kamara has played in 47 games and recorded 2,503 rushing yards (4.9 average), caught 257 passes for 2,214 yards, and scored 41 total touchdowns. Jones has played in 42 games and tallied 2,494 rushing yards (5.2 average), caught 92 passes for 780 yards, and scored 36 total touchdowns.

While Kamara has by far better numbers, Jones is coming off a monster 2019 season and had a huge day against Detroit. His 236 yards from scrimmage were the most by a Packers player in 64 years.

Also in that 2017 running back class, Minnesota extended Dalvin Cook (five years, $63 million) and Cincinnati extended Joe Mixon (four years, $48 million). Even Chicago's Tarik Cohen, a fourth-round pick who is more of a niche player than every-down threat, has inked a three-year extension worth $17.25 million.

"I'm definitely open to getting something done whenever but, like I said, that's not my main focus," Jones said after the game. "Just going to continue to focus on football and helping this team bring in the wins, as many as possible."

No flight zone

It will be a fascinating matchup between Brees and Saints receivers Michael Thomas (if he plays) and Sanders against Green Bay cornerbacks Jaire Alexander and Kevin King.

Alexander is the top-graded cornerback in the league at Pro Football Focus. King wasn't even targeted by Detroit quarterback Matthew Stafford.

"Sunday night, Monday night, those primetime games when the people are watching, that's when you can't go out there and try to do too much because that's when bad things happen," King said. "Make sure you study, you know what's going on out there and you know what you're supposed to do and know what the other team is going to do."

"Just play your technique and the plays are going to come. That's the thing, we get 11 guys on the same page doing things the way Pet (defensive coordinator Mike Pettine) needs us to do, then we're going to be a scary team for the whole year."

Year 2 jump

As a rookie, Green Bay outside linebacker Rashan Gary was a disappointment. The 12th pick of the draft, he barely caused a ripple, ranking 19th in the rookie class with two sacks and tied for 24th with three quarterback hits.

Through two games this season, he has 1.5 sacks and four quarterback hits. Pressures against Minnesota and Detroit turned into critical interceptions. Against Minnesota, his late rush turned into an interception just before halftime that helped turn the game in Green Bay's direction. Against Detroit, his quick victory produced Chandon Sullivan's pick-six that essentially clinched the game.

"I think Rashan's grown as much as anybody in the 20 games we've all been together," coach Matt LaFleur said. "I think he continues to put forth great effort. I think he's got a better understanding of what it is we're asking him to do, his assignments, the adjustments within a play. I think it's always fun to watch a guy who puts everything into it reap the benefits of that. So, we'll continue to push him and see how much better he can get on a weekly basis."

KEYS TO THE GAME

By BILL HUBER
Correspondent

The Green Bay Packers (2-0) travel to take on the New Orleans Saints (1-1) at 7:20 p.m. Sunday at Mercedes-Benz Superdome in New Orleans. NBC televises the game.

Coaches

Green Bay — Matt LaFleur, second season (15-3). New Orleans — Sean Payton, 14th season (132-78).

History

Green Bay leads 16-9, though New Orleans is 3-0 at home the past two decades with a pair of blowout wins in Drew Brees vs. Aaron Rodgers showdowns.

When the Packers have the ball

Green Bay's offense is rolling, with No. 1 rankings in points, total yards, yards per play, rushing yards, rushing yards per play, giveaways, sack percentage and time of possession. Aaron Rodgers is sixth in passing yards and Aaron Jones is first in rushing yards.

While New Orleans is only 23rd in points allowed through two games, this will be a much bigger challenge. The Saints are eighth in total defense, third in yards allowed per play and fourth in yards allowed per rushing attempt. That stout run defense, which limited Raiders star Josh Jacobs to 88 yards on 27 attempts, will test a Green Bay ground attack that ran roughshod over the Lions.

The defensive line is talented and deep. The ends are Cameron Jordan and Marcus Davenport. Jordan, who rushes primarily against the offensive right tackle, finished third in the NFL last season with 15.5 sacks and has 40.5 sacks the past three seasons. With Davenport (elbow) inactive each of the first two games, Trey Hendrickson started and has a team-high two sacks.

The Saints use a four-man rotation at defensive tackle with David Onyemata and Malcom Brown starting and Sheldon Rankins and Margus Hunt coming off the bench.

Alex Anzalone and Demario Davis were the only linebackers who played against the Raiders. Davis, the every-down linebacker, is tied for the team lead with 14 tackles. He had a big-time 2019 with 111 tackles and 12 passes defended. Rookie Zack Baun, the former Wisconsin star who was drafted in the third round, has played only on special teams.

While the Saints' base defense is 4-3, they play mostly nickel. The starting corners are Marshon Lattimore and Janoris Jenkins. Chauncey Gardner-Johnson is listed as a safety but serves as the third corner. Lattimore, in his fifth season, has been selected to two Pro Bowls. Jenkins had five interceptions last season and has one this season.

Malcolm Jenkins and Marcus Williams are the safeties. Jenkins, in his 12th season, is a three-time Pro Bowler who is back for his second tour of duty with the Saints. He started all 96 games in six seasons with Philadelphia. Williams has 11 interceptions in three-plus seasons and has started 48 of a possible 50 games in his career.

When the Saints have the ball

Green Bay's defense has played inconsistently in the first two games, with long stretches of excellent play but also some noteworthy bumps in the road.

Spanning the end of the week one win at Minnesota and the start of the week two win against Detroit, the Packers gave up five consecutive touchdowns. However, after giving up 150 yards and two touchdowns to start last week's game, it yielded 157 yards and one touchdown — while scoring one of its own — in the final nine possessions.

The challenge will be much, much stiffer against the Saints, who have finished in the top four in scoring each of the past four seasons.

Drew Brees, the Saints' 41-year-old, 20-year veteran quarterback, is the NFL's all-time leader in passing yards and passing touchdowns. What he lacks in arm strength, he makes up for in intelligence, accuracy and release. In fact, he's led the NFL in completion percentage each of the past three seasons, including a league-record 74.4 percent in 2018 and 74.3 percent in 2019.

"Definitely a Hall of Fame quarterback," Packers cornerback Kevin King said. "Not really too sure what they've got going on with the injuries or whatnot but definitely a real explosive receiving corps, some guys that can really take the top off in terms of speed — a lot of speed — and got a quarterback whose mind works real fast and knows how to get the ball in the right spots."

Brees is surrounded by quality weapons. The list starts with receiver Michael Thomas, who caught an NFL-record 149 passes last season. He missed Monday's game against Oakland with an ankle injury and is iffy for Sunday.

Thomas was a one-man receiver corps, which is why the Saints signed veteran Emmanuel Sanders in free agency. Sanders, however, had just one catch against the Raiders and couldn't get open in three games against Green Bay's Jaire Alexander last year.

Running back Alvin Kamara is a do-it-all star. Against the Raiders, he ran for 79 yards and two touchdowns and caught 9-of-9 passes for 95 yards. Green Bay couldn't handle Detroit rookie running back D'Andre Swift in the passing game last week, with Swift catching 5-of-5 passes for 60 yards.

The tight end is a familiar face. Jared Cook, who had some big moments for the Packers as a one-year rental in 2016, caught 43 passes and scored a career-high nine touchdowns last year — his first with the Saints.

There are two more familiar faces: jack-of-all-trades quarterback Taysom Hill and running back Ty Montgomery. Hill is a threat passing, running and receiving. He had six touchdown catches last season.

The offensive line is a beast with left tackle Terron Armstead, left guard Andrus Peat, center Erik McCoy, rookie right guard Cesar Ruiz and right tackle Ryan Ramczyk, the former Wisconsin star. That group will pose an enormous challenge to a Green Bay front that has rushed the passer well but struggled vs. the run.

Special teams

New Orleans' kicking units are strong. Will Lutz has made all three field-goal attempts this season after going 32 of 36 last year.

Thomas Morstead has punted nine times. Seven have pinned the opponent inside the 20 and he's allowed merely 5 return yards. Deonte Harris has averaged 32.0 yards per kickoff return and 14.8 yards per punt return this season; he returned a punt for a touchdown last season.

Green Bay's return teams have been slow to get going. Tyler Ervin, who jump-started those units last year, has 0 yards on two punt returns and is averaging just 17.3 yards on three kickoff returns. However, Mason Crosby is 4-of-4 on field goals and opponents haven't returned any of J.K. Scott's punts.

Shawano School Board votes 7-1 to approve code of conduct

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

The Shawano School Board voted 7-1 Monday with little discussion on a policy establishing a code of conduct for board members, with board member Mart Grams casting the lone vote against it.

Superintendent Randi Anderson told the board that the policy was based on similar policies that other school districts have in place.

The policy outlines general expectations, which includes treating others with respect and communicating in a way that doesn't violate the district's policies on harassment and discrimination. There's also an expectation to avoid implicating the district in unlawful activity or anything that would otherwise harm the district. There is also a requirement on board communications being true and accurate.

Action taken by the board against board members who violate policy includes formal censure by resolution — something Grams experienced earlier this year after posting a disparaging remark about George Floyd, the Black man who died in Minnesota in May while in police custody.

Solution to Cryptoquote: ONE OF THE ADVANTAGES OF BEING DISORDERLY IS THAT ONE IS CONSTANTLY MAKING EXCITING DISCOVERIES. — A.A. MILNE

Signs of emerald ash borer infestation include ash trees dying from the top down and branches sprouting low on the trunk of the tree.

WISCONSIN DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

Emerald ash borer detected in Shawano, Oconto counties

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

A tiny menace to ash trees has made its appearance in both Oconto and Shawano counties, state officials confirmed last week.

Alex Feltmeyer, a forest health specialist with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR), identified the first positive identifications of emerald ash borer (EAB) in both counties, which were later confirmed by the state Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection. Feltmeyer estimated EAB was present at both locations for at least three to four years.

Emerald ash borer kills all varieties of ash trees (white ash, green ash and black ash) but is not known to affect any other Wisconsin tree species. More than 99% of Wisconsin's ash trees are expected to die. Once infested, ash trees generally die in four to six years.

Feltmeyer found evidence of the EAB in trees in the Town of Little Suamico and the City of Shawano.

Signs of EAB infestation includes woodpecker damage, thinning of the tree crown from the top, 1/8-inch D-shaped exit holes, and branches sprouting low on the trunk.

Oconto County and Shawano County woodland owners who own 10 or more wooded acres are encouraged to meet with their local DNR forester. Visit My Wisconsin Woods to request a free property visit.

EAB was discovered in the city of Green Bay in 2009 and more recently in several locations in Marinette County in 2017. Citizens can help slow the spread of EAB and other invasive insects and diseases that kill trees by not moving firewood.

If yard trees are close to houses or garages, it is best to plan for removal or protection now. Trees on private property can be protected through an annual or biannual application of systemic insecticides.

For questions on residential trees, homeowners are encouraged to contact a certified arborist at waa-isa.org.

ATHLETE PROFILE: HALEA SPORISKY

Bonduel senior helping team find consistency

After an up-and-down season on the courts last fall, the Bonduel High School volleyball team is hoping to turn in a more consistent showing this fall with a more experienced squad. Senior Halea Sporisky is one of the players back this fall and she's hoping to guide the team to a better showing.

Sporisky spends time as a right side hitter and is an occasional setter. She does a little bit of everything on the court for the Bears.

In the team's season-opening Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division match against Wittenberg-Birnamwood on Sept. 15, Sporisky finished with six attack kills, six digs and seven assists.

Q: When did your interest in volleyball begin?

A: I started playing volleyball in the fifth grade, but I didn't really start enjoying it until seventh or eighth grade.

Q: What is your favorite part about the volleyball season?

A: My favorite part about volleyball season is the amount of time I get to spend with my friends and just getting to play the sport I love.

Q: What has volleyball taught you over the years?

A: Volleyball has taught me that you have to work for everything. You can't expect anything in life to get handed to you, and even then if you didn't get what you want, you've got to keep working for it.

Q: As a senior, how do you try and lead the team, yet also enjoy your final season?

A: This year is definitely one that none of us were expecting, but as a senior on the team knowing it's my last season, I'm just trying to keep everyone positive and make the most of it.

Q: What are the team's keys to success this season?

A: This year most of our lineup is returning from last year so we definitely have to use that to our advantage. We have a lot of potential to be good this season and I'm excited to see what we accomplish.

Q: What's your favorite memory of competing on the Bonduel volleyball team?

A: My favorite memories from being on this team are all of the bus rides, laughs shared, and friends made.

Q: What are you going to miss most about high school volleyball?

A: I'm going to miss being able to compete with my friends and the team bonding before all of our games.

Q: Favorite TV show, movie and musical artist?

A: TV show — "Outer Banks."

Movie — "The Lion King." Musical artist — Khalid or Ali Gatie.

Q: Name one thing about yourself that not many people know.

A: Most people don't know that in my free time I enjoy reading, and spending time with friends and family.

Q: What's the greatest piece of advice you have ever been told?

A: The greatest advice I have ever been given is: "You can't change the last 30 seconds, but you can change the next 30 seconds." That simply means that no matter what just happened you can't let it affect what you do next, you have to let it go and keep going.

Q: What are some things you hope to accomplish after graduating high school?

A: After high school I plan to go to college and get a degree in exercise science. After I graduate I would love to continue on to a DPT (Doctor of Physical Therapy) program and further my education specifically in physical therapy.

Chargers begin CWC-East title quest with win

Witt-Birn sweeps Bonduel, goes 4-0 in first week

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Wittenberg-Birnamwood High School volleyball team is hoping to win its second straight Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division title this fall, but it needed some young athletes to fill the voids left by graduated players.

The team's young talent were up for the challenge Sept. 15, when the team opened its season with a sweep of Bonduel by scores of 25-11, 25-16, 25-21 in Bonduel.

"That was the biggest thing I was saying in the (season) preview, is we got to start off strong right off the bat," said Witt-Birn coach Becky Rew. "Our No. 1 goal is to win conference again."

"We got six seniors, but we also have a lot of sophomores and freshmen playing, and there were some nerves. I saw it in warmups. The nerves were kind of there, but I was very happy with how they came together."

It was the senior duo of Abi Fraaza and Emma Herb that combined for 15 kills to lead the way for the Chargers, but several underclassmen also stepped up.

Freshman London Metropulos finished with four kills, while sophomore Reese Rogowski also had four kills and added 10 digs. Sophomore setter Payton Foster had a team-leading 11 assists and chipped in six digs, with sophomore Lilly Betry contributing in multiple areas, finishing with two aces, five assists and three digs.

"I think (tonight) was a good turning point because we've been practicing so much. We've been having our open gyms, but this was our first actual contact play we've had," said Herb, who had five attack kills on the night. "I think it's just exciting, especially coming out of quarantine since we didn't get to play in our spring sports. So to come back and be able to play our first game and beat them as we did, it was pretty cool."

Along with her 10 kills — four of which were blocks — Fraaza also came through as a server, finishing with 19 serves attempted and a pair of aces. Senior McKenna Foster tallied a team high 11 digs.

After falling behind early in the first set and never being able to bounce back, Bonduel was able to battle with Witt-Birn in the second and third sets, something that gave coach Abby Reinke some confidence.

"We've got a really good group of kids; I think sometimes it just takes them that game to get going. But if we can figure out a way to start the first set that way, we have the talent," said Reinke. "There's a lot of opportunity to grow, but I saw some fight and competitiveness there (second and third sets) so that's good."

Senior Halea Sporisky and sophomore Josie Hoffman each finished with six attack kills for the Bears, while junior Brenna Hertzfeldt had five. Hoffman topped the team with 11 digs, with Sporisky, Hertzfeldt and Allaina Robaidek each tallying six digs.

Robaidek and Sporisky racked up all but two of the team's assists, finishing with 11 and seven, respectively. Robaidek and sophomore Nakiyah Henning each contributed three kills.

The two teams went undefeated the rest of the week.

On Sept. 17, Bonduel swept Rosholt (25-18, 25-16, 25-17) in a CWC crossover match in Bonduel.

Henning led Bonduel with seven kills, while Hoffman and Hertzfeldt had six kills each. Henning also had four aces, while Hoffman had three. Robaidek was the team leader in digs and assists, tallying 15 and 14, respectively.

That same night, Witt-Birn earned another road win, sweeping Pittsville by scores of 25-15, 25-15, 25-12.

Fraaza finished with 11 total kills for Witt-Birn, while Herb had nine attack kills. Fraaza also had four aces.

Metropulos had 12 total kills, five of which were blocks. Jadalynn Davids added four blocks kills, Amara Schoepke served five aces and Betry totaled 15 assists and four aces. Payton Foster led the team with 14 assists and McKenna Foster had nine digs.

The Chargers wrapped up the week with a pair of wins at a home triangular Saturday.

In its 25-17, 25-13 win over Weyauwega-Fremont, Rogowski tallied six kills and four digs for Witt-Birn, while Fraaza and Herb contributed six and five kills, respectively. Payton Foster recorded seven assists and three aces, Betry added eight assists and McKenna Foster served four aces.

In its 25-23, 25-16 victory over Iola-Scandinavia, Herb led the team with seven attack kills, with Fraaza and Rogowski each tallying three block kills. McKenna Foster recorded 11 digs, while Payton Foster and Betry tallied nine and seven assists, respectively.

Bonduel girls claim first place at home invitational

Three girls place in top 5

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

The trio of Kara Troxel, Ashlyn Kurey and Kalleigh Schroeder helped the Bonduel High School girls cross-country team win the Bonduel Invitational on Sept. 15 in Bonduel.

The three runners placed inside the top five to power the team to a score of 17.

Troxel finished second with a time of 21:56.2. Kurey and Schroeder weren't far behind, placing third and fourth in 22:19.6 and 22:46.7, respectively.

Breanna Schnell (23:49.1) and Kendra Troxel (24:06.5) also earned top-10 finishes to round out the team score, taking ninth and 10th, respectively.

The Bonduel boys placed fifth, led by Jack Johnson's eighth-place finish in 18:47.6. Cooper Uelmen took 18th in 19:39.9.

Ayden Dunst (20:19.3), Karter Schroeder (21:07.4) and Ben O'Brien (21:10.5) rounded out the team's top five, finishing 27th, 33rd and 34th, respectively.

The Marion boys placed seventh, while the girls team didn't qualify for a score.

Isaiah Gueths (20:18.5) led the boys team with a 26th-place finish. Jackson Krohn (24:48.6), Jesse Trebus (24:52), Myles Peterson (26:03.9) and Jack VanKooy (30:39.1) were the team's other four runners, placing between 52nd and 65th.

Claire Dow (30:24.2) was the top Marion girl finisher, taking 24th.

Kelsey Zillmer (30:33.2) was 25th, Nora Wiesman (31:10.7) finished 27th and Claire Brei (34:59.3) placed 35th.

Three Gresham/Bowler runners participated in the invitational. Bryson Nelson (23:00.6) and Zachary Young (24:21) placed 44th and 49th, respectively, for the boys. Maya Thieh (32:04.5) came in 29th for the girls.

Girls team scores: 1. Bonduel 17; 2. Wittenberg-Birnamwood 56; 3. Iola-Scandinavia 71.

Boys team scores: 1. Pacelli 28; 2. Wittenberg-Birnamwood 64; 3. Iola-Scandinavia 65; 4. Weyauwega-Fremont 107; 5. Bonduel 120; 6. Manawa 178; 7. Marion 216.

HIGH SCHOOL SOCCER

Shawano boys ready to roll under new coach

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Shawano Community High School boys soccer team heads into the fall season under the direction of a new coach and ready to compete in the tough Bay Conference.

Andrew Brooks is the team's new coach and he must replace a couple of impact players from last year's team, which earned a win in the post-season after a solid regular season.

The coach will lean on the team's seniors, who Brooks said have shown strong leadership skills and are remaining positive during trying times.

Seniors Carson Cummings (forward, midfielder) and Lucas Te

Plate (defense) are back with starting experience on their side.

Junior Ethan Schwitzer (defense) also started last season and is the team's lone returning all-conference player. He made the honorable mention team.

Also back with varsity experience are seniors Nolan Buck (defense), Caden Tetting, Lance Huebner and Tanner Buck (midfielders) and junior Owen Moesch (midfielder, forward)

"As a senior, I plan on leading the team sort of like just how I did last year," said Cummings. "I want to set a good example when we run, do drills, and play. Having kids give it their all in practice goes a long ways on the game field.

"Last year I tried to bring the team together a bit, on and off the field, to create bonds and connections, so that when it came to playing we could move the ball more fluently across the field and try to pull out more wins. This year will be a similar process, but hopefully we'll get a better outcome than last year."

Five sophomores, Julian Perez and Luke Guenther (midfielders) and Chad Norton, Andrew Herrmann and Jackson Boucher (defense), are among the players that will try and fill the voids left by some of the graduated seniors from last year's team.

Shawano opened its season by tying New London 2-2 in a Bay matchup on Sept. 17 in Shawano.

Cummings scored both of the goals for the Hawks. Junior goalie Kaden Cox made nine saves.

Shawano also tied Menasha 2-2 in another Bay match on Saturday in Menasha.

Tetting gave the Hawks the lead with a goal during the 15th minute of the match, with the assist being credited to Cummings. After Menasha scored the next two goals, Cummings scored off an assist from Guenther to tie it in the 83rd minute of play.

Shawano junior goalie Jared Sackett made 19 saves in the contest.

Shawano positive under new coach as season starts

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Shawano Community High School volleyball team embarks on its fall season under the direction of a new coach and with a need to replace some strong players who graduated.

Lew Worthington is the team's new coach, and he must find a way to replace some of the team's top players — including two all-conference players — from last year's team that finished 4-3 in Bay Conference matches.

Still, the coach believes the team has enough talent to draw on and fare well in the Bay. The Hawks will only play conference opponents this fall, and both Green Bay East and Green Bay West won't play due to COVID concerns, so Shawano will only play 10 matches.

"Our players have really embraced our philosophy and leadership and are one of the most teachable groups of players I've ever worked with," said Worthington. "As good as they were coming into the season, they've already shown significant growth as a team and as individual players. They've also demonstrated court maturity and calm and have this uncanny ability to play extremely well under pressure."

Senior Rachel Reed is the team's lone all-conference player back from last year. She made the second team as an outside hitter.

Senior Avery Dreier (middle blocker), junior Margo Gull (libero) and sophomore Alix Heath (setter) also played big roles for the varsity squad last year.

Seniors Freya Dickson (outside hitter) and Abby Tuma (defensive specialist), juniors Brianna Wright (right side), Faith Passehl (setter), Isabel Daniel (defensive specialist), Madelyn Sparks (right side) and Brooke Theis (middle blocker) are some upperclassmen who could fill out the rotation.

Senior Morgan Weinig (defensive specialist), juniors Emma James and Karah Latender (setters, defensive specialists) and freshmen Coral Cook (outside hitter), Abigail Bystol (middle blocker) and Gabrielle Koenig (setter) are some other players who could crack the new coach's rotation at some point.

Gresham hoping to compete for another CWC-North title despite losses

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Gresham Community High School volleyball team is looking to reload its roster and compete for another conference title this fall.

The Wildcats are coming off a 19-7 season in which they won the Central Wisconsin Conference-North Division title with a 6-0 mark. The team went on to win a regional title before being eliminated in a sectional semifinal.

Gresham, which is coached by Tim Wild, graduated several big-time players from that team — including Karisa Nietzer, the conference's player of the year. Even after losing Nietzer and two other starters, Wild remains confident that the team can put together another strong season.

A big part of the reason for the coach's optimism is because the team has three all-conference players back. Junior Valarie Cerveney (middle hitter) made the first team, while senior Makayla Belongia (outside hitter) and junior Hannah Cerveney (setter) made the second team.

Junior Kalayla Tucker (libero) also started for the Wildcats a season ago.

ONLINE

Among the players that could fill in the rest of the lineup are seniors Destiny Reindl (outside hitter) and Addi Boucher (right side, setter) and freshman Maddie Haffner (right side, setter).

Gresham opened up its season with a five-set win over CWC-North foe Wisconsin Valley Lutheran on Sept. 15 in Mosinee, winning by scores of 20-25, 21-25, 25-21, 25-20, 15-7.

Belongia was credited with 14 kills and 16 digs for Gresham, while Valarie Cerveney added 10 kills. Hannah Cerveney tallied 29 assists, Tucker had 20 digs and sophomore Chloe Bohl finished with 13 service points.

The Wildcats then swept Bowler by scores of 25-9, 27-25, 25-12 on Saturday in Bowler.

Bohl finished with 14 kills and nine service points for Gresham, while Hannah Cerveney had 14 assists. Reindl recorded 15 service points, while Valarie Cerveney had 12.

OPINION

GUEST COLUMN

Addiction thrives in the dark, but only if we let it

Everything looked fine on the surface. It's kind of like when the house gets really quiet. That's when you should be worried your kids are tearing the next room apart.

I was a fast-rising, celebrated journalist. I'm fortunate enough to still have an incredible wife and brilliant twin daughters. I was training for my fifth marathon, and you could find me at church every Sunday morning.

Hours after church, I was often funneling beer or whiskey in the quiet, dark corners of our house. Yet another domino tipped. Another week of drinking every day was officially underway. Another stretch of getting violently sick in the shower every morning, skipping meals or quietly considering suicide while lying wide awake in the middle of the night.

As I've walked through the horrifying details with my wife as I pitch a memoir I've written on my experience, I can't believe that person was me. I'm no saint, but I no longer drive over stop signs, leave my 5-year-olds alone at the house while I dash out for beer or attend AA meetings while half in the bag.

With nearly 500 days of sobriety under my belt, I start every day with gratitude. Among the things I'm most thankful for is the fact that I didn't have to try to get clean during a pandemic. Because I tried and failed numerous times while things were perceivably good. It took checking into rehab to worth it. That you're worth it, and that the person you love, who's suffering in silence, is worth it. There's hope.

I didn't want to admit to myself, or anyone else, that I had a drinking problem, the same way I didn't want to talk about my often-crippling battles with anxiety and depression. I felt trapped. That I was a lost cause, and that there was no way out. I couldn't get the help I needed or find a new job. My job, my family, our bills and the world's expectations wouldn't wait for me, or so I told myself.

It turns out I had far more support than I thought. As soon as I told my closest friends and family what I was living through, a different domino fell. Finally being honest with everyone, including myself, was the most liberating feeling I've ever had. Only then could I start doing the work. Trust me, it's work, but the paydays are unlike anything I'd ever experienced.

While in treatment, I began creating a new sort of cocktail: the mix of tools that keep me sober every day. I began seeing a therapist to get to the root of my problem — the mental illness. I saw a psychiatrist to make sure I stayed on the right meds. (I can't emphasize this enough: A psychiatrist, not a therapist, should be prescribing your meds.) I reunited with God and also got way into meditation and mindfulness. I made physical fitness a priority and set achievable goals (emphasis on "achievable"). I got a gratifying job, and I reconnected with long-lost friends.

It's National Recovery Month, and the best thing I have to offer is a promise that I'm get on the path to long-term recovery. Even after that, I lapsed multiple times before I finally got over the hump.

I attend meetings — I prefer the SMART program (Self-Management and Recovery Training) over AA. SMART is more secular and more forum-based, meaning you can share ideas and discuss sobriety tools in real time.

I maintain that the most important thing I did was step out of the darkness and into the healing light of being honest.

The moment I started being completely honest, something incredible happened. Rather than running from addiction, I began running toward a fulfilling, happy life. That paradigm shift, going from trying to avoid pain to relishing a good life, made all the difference in the world. I began sleeping through the night. I saw the glint in my eyes return. I connected deeply with my wife and those I loved most.

Being an open-book advocate is obviously not for everyone, but for me it's therapeutic, and the thought of my success story helping save a life is beyond humbling.

You don't need to blast your story on social media like I did. If we simply talk about these taboo issues — substance abuse and mental illness — to just one person, we've taken a step toward the healing our society so badly needs. The stigma surrounding these afflictions is keeping millions from living their best lives. In many heart-breaking cases, it's kept them from living, period.

It's more important now than ever that we talk to each other, that we take a minute and check in with each other and, perhaps more important, be honest when someone asks how we are. Don't deny yourself the opportunity to feel pain. That Buddha guy knew his stuff, and this quote is exactly what we need to hear and embrace: "Pain is a gift. Instead of avoiding it, learn to embrace it. Without pain, there is no growth."

We're living in a time where we can either let pain be our undoing or our opportunity to come back better and stronger. I recommend the latter.

Christopher Heimerman is a former newspaper editor and author of the unpublished memoir "40,000 Steps." A Wisconsin native, he lives in DeKalb, Illinois, with his wife and twin daughters.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Gallagher serves as pawn to president

To the editor:

Attempts to fake out being a person of the community and not a Donald Trump pawn is not working for Mike Gallagher. Gallagher, the present U.S. representative in the Eighth Congressional District, running for reelection against state Rep. Amanda Stuck, tries to ride the top of a fence in words but is placing both feet solidly on the Trump side of it.

Gallagher supports the president's policies consistently, only once inferring the Trump's racist remarks were not meant as he (Trump) stated.

Amanda Stuck, his Eighth District opponent, stated she teaches her children to be kind and respectful of everyone. She does not accept this kind of talk from her children nor any political figure, Trump or Gallagher. Stuck has a stand on issues, not in policies of "whatever happens" attitude Gallagher demonstrates.

Gallagher has not stood up one time to Trump when it comes to citizens' needs for health, preexisting conditions, farmers, manufacturers or student loan borrowers. Gallagher, a pawn for the president, is a person of weakness who touts the party line.

A change in the Eighth District, in support of the needs of the community, education, economic growth cannot happen in the Gallagher direction. A one-time question of Trump on his racist comments may have a negative effect on some of Gallagher's supporters and those that see no reasons to just vote the way the Trump leadership directs.

Gallagher's saying of one thing and doing another makes him a pawn, not a representative the Eighth District deserves. Please vote by absentee, on site at your voting area early or on Nov. 3. Recommendation here for our community? Amanda Stuck. As President Trump himself has stated: "What do you have to lose?"

Edward Johnson, Clintonville

Bieber's fair comments generate laughter

To the editor:

I read the Sept. 11 Shawano Leader article entitled "Sheriff announces hope's return to community," and I laughed out loud. Adam Bieber made his remarks at the Shawano County Fair's opening ceremony.

Knowing that Bieber is a die-hard Trump sycophant, what he said was an amazing read. It sounded like he was actually criticizing Donald Trump, saying there is good, in spite of "political leaders and the media trying to divide us." He continued with, "We need to drop the labels and become Americans," and "These values have helped to develop the most diverse nation." He said the media only cares about ratings.

Trump (our divider-in-chief) would not have liked this article. Neither would Rush Limbaugh and those on Fox News, including Sean Hannity and Laura Ingram.

Maybe the sheriff has finally seen the light and is actually endorsing Joe Biden. One can only hope.

New call center expands support for people in emotional distress

Wisconsin callers to the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline are much more likely to speak with a Wisconsin-based counselor with the opening of a new Wisconsin call center funded by a grant from the Department of Health Services.

"No one should ever have to be alone when they feel hopeless," said DHS Secretary-designee Andrea Palm. "Adding capacity to handle Wisconsin calls to the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline is part of our ongoing effort to ensure the right supports are available at the right time for people in emotional distress."

Known as the Wisconsin Lifeline, the new call center is managed by Family Services of Northeast Wisconsin under a $2 million annual grant.

It accepts calls originating from communities not covered by one of four existing Wisconsin-based call centers in the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline network.

All of the call centers accept calls 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Palm noted that Wisconsin-based counselors have the expertise and linkages to local resources that callers need, which is important as more people seek help due to the stress of the COVID-19 pandemic.

COVID-19 Journal

The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline is a network of more than 170 call centers around the country. Callers are routed to a member call center near them based on their phone number.

In most cases, calls that are not answered by a local call center roll over to a national backup system. However, in Wisconsin, the Wisconsin Lifeline serves as backup to the four locally funded call centers further ensuring calls are answered by Wisconsin-based counselors.

The Wisconsin Lifeline places Wisconsin in a good position to handle the predicted surge in calls when 988 becomes the new nationwide number for the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline by July 2022.

For now, anyone wishing to connect to the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline should call 800-273-TALK (8255). The call is free and confidential.

LEGAL NOTICE NOTICE SHAWANO COUNTY REAL ESTATE SALE

Applications for Appraisal having been made and following Real Estate having been appraised, sealed bids will be received at the office of the County Treasurer Until 2 o'clock P.M., Wednesday, October 6, 2020, for the purchase of each parcel of property described below in accordance with the Wisconsin Statutes, Section No. 75.69.

All bids should be submitted in a special envelope marked "Sealed Bid". Envelopes and bid blanks are obtainable at the Office of the County Treasurer, Courthouse, Shawano, Wisconsin. Each bidder must designate the amount he/she is offering for the following real estate description. No bid will be accepted for less than the minimum bid. All Payments must be made by certified check, money order, or cashier's check. No personal or business checks will be accepted. The bid payment must equal at a minimum ten percent (10%) of the bid amount as earnest money. The successful bidder's earnest money shall be non-refundable. The unsuccessful bidder's earnest money will be returned within 45 days of the public opening. Successful bidders will be given a Quit Claim Deed to the property from Shawano County upon full payment. Payment in full will be due by cashier's check or bank money order no later than November 6, 2020. Shawano County reserves the right to reject any or all bids on the property and to be able to accept the bid it deems to be most advantageous to the County. All properties are subject to local zoning and building codes. The parcels and/or buildings are sold in an "as is" condition. Shawano County assumes no liability for any condition of the properties listed.
